First Class Aerospace wins coveted spot in Sherwin Williams' 2022 Aerospace Coatings Calendar

First Class Aerospace paints itself into making it's mark as one of the leaders in Aerospace Paint & Interior completions

Leesburg, FL— December 8, 2021 — The Sherwin-Williams Company features another set of the most unique and classic aircraft paint schemes in its new 2022 Aerospace Coatings Calendar. This annual program recognizes the outstanding work of aircraft painters across the country that rely on Sherwin-Williams aerospace coatings in their MRO and OEM facilities. “We are honored to have our team recognized for the outstanding creative work they have been completing for our clients. The Eclipse 500 is a great representation of the work accomplished here every day.” said Steve Purello, President at First Class Aerospace.

"This year was more competitive than ever with a 42% increase in submissions from paint shops that had never participated before," says Julie Voisin, global marketing manager – Aerospace Market & Automotive Interiors for Sherwin-Williams. "We feel this is one of the most creative and inspiring collections of aircraft schemes and are thrilled to announce the winners of the 2022 Sherwin-Williams Aerospace Coatings calendar contest."
